The Junior Plymouth Alumni will meet at the home of Austin Sinclair, on Friday afternoon, September 30, at 3 o'clock.

With the approaching primaries on Sept. 20, it behoove the parties in Plymouth township to select with care their candidates for township commissioners and township treasurer. The township next January becomes, by virtue of its population already recorded by the 1920 census, a township of the first class. It is therefore entitled to a governing board of one commissioner elected from each of the two election districts and three others elected at large throughout the township. The affairs of the road supervisors, both with regard to the finances and the physical condition of the township are in such a splendid condition that the present board of road supervisors, which has so succesfully and economically managed affairs for several years bringing order out of financial and political chaos, these gentlemen, who have been tried and who have established their ability so plainly to safely handle the township affairs, should receive just consideration in the selection of the board of township commissioners. At the beginning of the present year Plymouth township was the only district hereabouts that was not obliged to increase its road tax, and in addition it had a splendid balance of cash in its treasury and its township roads are in exceptional condition, and so we urge that the voters exercise caution in the selection of its candidates for township government. The tried men, are the ones who, if willing, should be again entrusted with the conduct of township affairs.

GAMBLERS TO FACE COURT.

85 Men Caught at Wheel Pump to Be Tried.

Four Held in $2500 Bail—81 Under $500 Each —John McGoldrick, Proprietor, States Club Rented Rooms at His Hotel—State Police Figure.

Gamblers taken in the spectacular raid on the old Wheel Pump hotel above Chestnut Hill last Friday who went to Norristown Monday expecting to contribute generously of their bank rolls to the county treasurer in fines and then forget all about it, got the shock of their lives when Magistrate O. F. Lenhardt held them all for court.

Most of them waived hearings after learning that it made no difference whether they did or not. While they were standing in front of the magistrate's office, eighty-five strong and surrounded by five-hundred interested spectators the magistrate was in conference with Assistant District Attorney Hendricks and Judge Swartz.

When this ended, word was sent to the gamblers through Theordore Lane Bean, their attorney, that they would all be held for court. This provoked a howl, but it soon subsided. Every man was required to sign his own bail bond as a precaution against "ringers," who were said to have been sent in the places of some of the "big men" of the Philadelphia fraternity.

Four men were held in $2500 bail each and the other 81 in $500 each. The four, charged with maintaining a gambling establishment, are John McGoldrick, proprietor of the hotel; Albert Kennedy, of Twelfth street near Thompson; Charles Silver, of Tenth street above Poplar, and William Weinberg, Twelfth street above Girard avenue.

McGoldrick exhibited what he said was a lease signed by the "Montgomery County Automobile Club" and W. [illegible]edy, for a back room of the hotel, at $100 a month. It was datedAugust 8. McGoldrick insists he had nothing to do with the operation of the club, and that he thought they had a perfect right to play cards as members.

The gamblers shone resplendent in diamonds and gay raiment when they invaded Norristown for the hearing. A story was circulating among them that the raid was caused by the sister of a young man who was said to be using up his fortune in trying to beat various games of chance. The girl is said to have gone to Judge Swartz, who brought about the investigation by the State police resulting in the raid, and who is also said to have insisted that all the prisoners to be held for court.

Mr. Bean, attorney for the prisoners, acted as a sort of sublimated master of ceremonies at the hearing. He appeared in front of the magistrate's office wath an armful of bail bonds and began calling names. When he had ten or a dozen prisoners lined up he led them inside. There was considerable ribald laughter when the names were called, and much strain on memories, but the tangle finally was straightened out.

One man tried to 'smooth" his case by informing the magistrate that he was willing to pay a fine of $100 to wind it up. "So are all the rest of them,'" said the Magistrate, grimly, 'but that is not the way we are going to do things out here in Montgomery county. Five Hundred for court."

The certified check for $46,000 deposited with a Norristown trust company last week by Michael A. Spatola, another attorney representing the prisoners, was allowed to stay there when bail was renewed. This took care of most of the prisoners, but a few put up their own bail.

All the gambling apparatus taken by the seven State troopers who raided the hotel, was on exhibit in the office of the Magistrate as evidence. It brought rueful grimaces from some of the men, and snaps of the fingers from others strangely reminescent of the noises said to be made by persons who indulge in the game of dice shooting.

Sergeant Shaver, of the State police, who superintended the raid was on hand to testify, but it was not necessary to call him. He said later that he intends to visit Director Cortelyou to learn the names of other men said to be connected with the Wheel Pump venture. And if he gets these names and the necessary evidence, the sergeant asserts he will make more arrests.

Baseball Race Now a Tie.

The race for the Montgomery County Baseball league leadership is now a tie, as Lansdale defeated Doylestown last Saturday at Doylestown by the score of 3 to 1. Fully 6000 people saw the contest, which was bitterly fought from the start.

Conshohocken defeated Souderton by the score of 3 to 2, and these clubs are also tie for third place.

The Ambler club members will meet this week to consider plans for the balance of the season so as to complete the league schedule. Nucleus for a good team for next year is found in Edwards, Richie, McCarraher, Johnson, Scanlon, Douglass and Sharkey, and if Martin can recover his health no better first baseman will be needed. Cavis is good yet as far as his hitting goes. The manager's work with these players signed up, should be easy and there will no question as to the outcome of a large number of the games to be played if about three other good men can be signed.

In the Suburban league Glenside maintained its winning streak and took Willow Grove into camp by the score of 9 to 2. In a well played game Southampton defeated Fort Washington 1 to 0, while Wyndmoor stopped Hatboro, 5 to 4.

The Twin-County league staged some good games. Ambler defeated Weldon 6 to 0, while Keasbey & Mattison battled for 14 innings with Wyndmoor, winning by the score of 8 to 5, K. & M. scored 3 runs in the 14th, which lead Wyndmoor could not overcome.

J. P. SOUSA IN AMBLER.

Great Band Leader Undergoing Treatmenf.

Ear Condition Being Relieved by Drs. Noeling and Tupper at the Haywood Manor Sanatorium—Motors Over From Huntingdon Valley.

John Philip Sousa, the great band master, is undergoing treatments at the Haywood Manor Santorium, in charge of Dr. G. D. Noeling and Dr. G. W. Tupper. Mr. Sousa is having corrected some ear trouble, which is yielding nicely to the treatment.

Sousa and his famous band are at Willow Grove park, closing the season at that well known resort, and while the leader has his temporary residence at the Huntingdon Valley Country club, he mortors to Ambler several times per week in his car and submits to the minor operations, which are affording him the resired relief.

The bandmaster was interviewed on Sunday morning by a "Gazette" reporter, Lieutenant Sousa, as he is now termed, having been a lieutenant-colonel in the late war, was attired in tweed, short pants and wore a cap. He was very courteous, but matter-of-fact, precise and alert to keep his many appointment. He was warm in his praise of both Dr. Noeling and Dr. Tupper and their institution, and said he enjoys this section of Pennsylvania with its delightful scenery and its many routes of beautiful motor travel.

Mr. Sousa has his riding horses at Fort Side inn, and although seeking the good roads for his motor he was just as keen to learn of the by-roads and back roads for the pleasure and exhileration of horseback riding, of which he is very fond.

The great musician remained about half an hour, and then courtesly bade adieu, hastening away to keep his many appointments for the day.

Drs. Noeling and Tupper are making a success of their sanatorium, which is comfortably filled with patients, all of whom show marked improvement by the treatment, care and most congenial and healthful surroundings afforded.

The sanatorium is most conveniently fitted up, with a well-equipped operating room on the first floor. Throughout the structure the details of complete appointment are being splendidly worked out with every indication that it will be one of Ambler's most important institutions.

Shoemaker, of Ambler. The next meetnig will be held at the same place on the third Saturday in August. The business meeting was closed by all singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

In the afternoon a social time was enjoyed. The Lancaster descendants were represented. J. Howard Ellis, of near Jeffersonville, was the oldest descendant present, while the youngest was a seven- months old child from Conshohocken. The day was closed with the singing of "America."

Petition for Closing County is Filed.

The petition of Montgomery county sportsmen asking that Montgomery county be closed to the shooting of quail, pheasants, etc., for two years, is now on file at Harrisburg. A hearing on the petition before the state commission at Harrisburg, will be August 29th.

The signers to the petition number 758 and take in every section of the county. The petition was filed by the Montgomery County Fish and Game association, through its secretary, H. G. Unger.

If there are any protests to the closing to the county they must be filed before 1 o'clock on the date of the hearing.

The action of closing Montgomery county has been taken to protect the county from influx of sportsmen from surrounding counties that are closed.

During the past week, Secretary Unger put 50 cans of blue-gilled sunfish and 50 cans of black bass in the Perkiomen in the vicinity of Arcola. Other Montgomery county streams will be stocked. Last year 206 cans of small fish put in county streams.

A GOOD NEWSPAPER.

Its Requirements Discussed by Horsham Club.

August Meeting Finds All Officers Absent—Controlling the Hessian Fly—Rutabaga Treatment—Needs of Hatboro Library.

When the Horsham Farmers' club assembled at the home of the Misses Louise and Elizabeth Yerkes on Saturday evening the members were surprised to find the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer all absentees. To remedy this they called P. P. Gheen to the chair and asked Miss M. E. Goentner to act as secretary.

A very interesting report of the June meeting at the National Farm school was read. The prescribed order of business was then observed.

Report of executive committee: "Is the world better or worse than it was 100 years ago?" Mrs. Mitchell. "How many dollars' worth can a man raise on one acre of ground, and how much profit can he make by intensive farming?" Alfred Williams. "Shall the farmer sell or hold his imperishable crops this year?" Benjamin Park. "When shall a man or woman consider his or her life work complete?" Mr. Charles Kinsey. "What do you know about the occupational tax—Are both men and women taxed, and how are the assessments graded?" P. P. Gheen "For what purpose was the farmers' loan act enacted, and how can farmers needing its use secure it? Has it proved a success?" Clarence Mullin.

Answering of referred questions: "What are the requirements that go to make up a good newspaper for all the family?" Harry Worth said all read a newspaper with a purpose, and that purpose varies so much with the age of the readers, it seems an impossibility to combine in one paper all that is desired. Look at a party of people opening the morning paper. The men turn to the business section; the younger men and boys, to the sporting pages; the women to the department store advertisements. Women read the papers more carefully than men, who are apt to simply scan the headlines.

We do not care for reading of crime or scandal. We demand the news of the nation, unbiased, uncensored. No matter what is our political party, it is unpatriotic to ridicule our chief executive. Mr. Worth, after valuable suggestions, read a carefully prepared list of publications from which to chose to fill the need of each member of the family.

"What is the proper time to plant wheat to control the Hessian fly?" "Give your experience with the chemical treatment of seed wheat." William Penrose was not present, but had sent a carefully prepared article which was read by William Penrose, Jr. The deposit of eggs, birth and early stages of the Hessian fly were given, as well as a detail of the damage it does to the grain in different periods of its growth. There is no way to destroy the insect by spraying. Plowing down the stubble directly after harvest, regardless of the young grass sown there, is the most effectual treatment. But the moth is a greater pest than the Hessian fly. Two or three broods mature in one season. Infected grain should be treated with carbon bi-sulphide.

"What have you found to be the best way to destroy lice on rutabags?" Mr. Carrell replied he had no experience, as this pest appeared after he had left the farm, but he cited instances of our best farmers who had entirely lost their rutabaga crops year after year until they had abandoned the planting of the seed. "If you are willing to give the time and the labor to spraying with a pump whose nozzle is made to reach the under side of the leaf and use this formula: One part black leaf 40, 600 of water, 3 lbs. common yellow soap dissolved in warm water, you may destroy the aphis if you continue using this daily, but the question is whether it pays economically. Aphids, or plant lice are the very worst insect pests found in the garden or on the farm.

"Give your experience in canning corn by the cold pack method." Mrs. Stackhous not being present, the president called on Mrs. H. W. Hallowell to give her method. She said take the corn before it is old, and uses it as soon as possible after gathering. Sterilize three minutes in boiling water dip in cold, cut from cob, pack as closely as you can in the jar, leaving at least ½ inch between the corn and the top of the jar, put in a teaspoon of salt, fill the jar with boiling water, process three hours, and screw up tightly. I never lost a jar of corn and I have done very many.

Mr. Hallowell said he felt one reason of her unbroken success is in the freshness of the corn she used. "My slogan is, six minutes between the corn stalk and the sterilizing pot."

Mrs. Gheen repeated Miss MacDonald's rule that absolutely prohibited the using of corn to can any day but the one on which it is gathered.

Report of the Crop Committee. H. Warner Hallowell says one of the best assets of the farm is a good crop of straw. We have it this year. Potatoes about half a crop, hay, enough to go around.

N. E. Wood has been so busy he knows nothing of any one's else crops and can only tell of his own. He had a good crop of wheat, an average of hay. There promises half a crop of Keiffer pears, less than half a crop of potatoes. The oats were excellent both grain and straw. He never saw better oats. With regard to prices, who can estimate prices in the future? If we have enough to eat, we needn't worry.

Joseph Carrell, Jr., spoke earnestly regretting the failure of the apple crop. It is a pity that we have no peaches, but a calamity that we have no apples.

Neither of the two appointed to tell of current events was present. Some responded to the president's call, when Mrs. Hallowell said, "We desire Mr. Ezra Carrell to tell us what is the need of the library that we hear agitated."

In response Mr. Carrell told of the history and work of Union Library, Hatboro, but there is no record of the reason for it. We all agree it has been an influence for good. Just now we need about $500, to use in a new heating plant. We have very little money in hand, but hope our friends will send us voluntary offerings sufficient to liquidate the debt.

The corresponding secretary read a card from Farm Adviser Garber, in reference to the wheat called "44". Some seed may still be obtained from Howard Cliffe, of Ivyland.

Mr. Kinsey gave a very pleasing report of a community meeting at Solebury Friends' meeting. The progrom was adapted to all ages.

The Club Gazette was read by the editor, Miss Marguerite Hallowell. She said this is a "vacation number." It was wonderfully good. The articles were prepared by our own people. Contents: By Motor to Denver, My Auto 'tis of Thee, A Fishing Trip, Sight Seeing and excerpts from a letter from Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. Oehrle, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Twining, were elected members. All the retiring officers were re-elected for six months. Adjourned.

ASSOCIATIONS AT PLYMOUTH.

Plymouth Meeting Birthplace of Anti-Slavery Ideals.

Quaint Settlement Founded 200 Years Ago—Revolutionary War Activities—Thomas Hovendon and His Art Works.

Quaintest of settlements, unique in some respects, Plymouth Meeting lies in the heat of the pastoral valley of the Plymouth Creek in the centre of the celebrated limestone region of Montgomey county, and was founded more than 200 years ago in the midst of fertile meadows and a lovely rural setting, by some Enligsh and Welsh settlers. These worthy followers of George Fox, in 1712, established here the present meeting house for the practice and dissemination of their faith. It stands midway between Gwynedd Meeting, then in Philadelphia county, and the Meeting of Haverford and Radnor, in what then was Chester, but is now Delaware county; similar places of worship which had been organized about the same time or a little earlier than Plymouth Meeting.

The Church road which connects them, crossed the Schuylkill River by a ferry at Spring Mill, thus uniting the Welsh Barony in the Merionetti with its co-religionists in the North Wales settlements.

With respect to this locality it may be truly said that from that time to this notwithstanding the insidious drift to worldliness and the proneness in these days to schismatic tendencies, the tenets and influence of the society of Friends remain here the characteristic and dominating spirit and force. Nowhere is the communal atmosphere so simple or more sedate and reposeful than is to be found right here in this little unobtrustive spot, not 13 miles from Philadelphia.

From some of these plain, but comfortable homes one may see bordering the pike, there radiates a remarkable breadth of culture and advanced thought for this progressive age. From thence, too, there have gone out into the busy whirl of the world's activities native sons and daughters who, while winning high rewards to crown their own achievements, the reflected glory has brought unique distinction to their birthplace with lasting honor to the creed of their forefathers.

A SHRINE OF PATRIOTISM.

Beneath yonder giant sycamores and umbrageous maple stands the old, gray meeting-house, which has physically spanned the centuries, has sheltered the incoming settler and illumined his path with the inner lights; has witnessed the march of the armies of the Revolution as they maneuvered in and out of Whitemarsh even yielding up some of its own members of the fate of war. It served as a hospital after the dreadful sight at Germantown and looked with pity and concern upon the dismayed Continentals as they passed along it from Whitemarsh to camp at Gulph Mill; and in those bleak and stormy days that followed, its frozen ground consecrated to peace, rang with the tread of Colonel Mordecal Gist's command that camped upon it while the main body of Washington's army lay in the snow on the Gulph Hills.

From behind its stone walls and vantage points the watchful picket spied the liesurely approach of the British, led by General Grant, advancing from Chestnut Hill to surprise General Lafayette at Barren Hill; but that wily Frenchman, with his little command, silently stole away on its successful retreat to Matson's Ford, much to the chagrin of the English force.

Just a half century later, Friends at Plymouth Meeting put into practical expression the concrete sense of "The Protest Against Slavery," which their ancestors had recorded in the minutes of 1759, by organizing, in 1833, an anti-Slavery Society, and their action was immediately effective and the society and its work took a leading position in the politics of the country, so that in a short time it was necessary for the society to erect a building at the cross-roads on Hicks Corson's farm, and this structure was long known as "Abolition Hall." In it were heard during the succeeding years such forceful abolition agitators as Garrison, McKim, the Burleighs, Lucretia Mott, Abbie Kelley, Mary Greer and others hardly less powerful in the sweeping and humane movement.

In 1881, long after these scenes were enacted, and the civil war over, by which the question of slavery was settled for all time, there occurred one of those coincidences that sometimes strangely happen, when Thomas Hovendon, the artist, met with and married Helen Corson, who herself an artist, was the daughter of Hicks Corson, one of the most active adherents and promoters of the anti-slavery movement in the country. Mr. Hovenden took up his residence at Plymouth Meeting in 1882, and settled down to perfect his genius for art. Then the old hall, having fulfilled its mission as an agent in the exdrpation of slavery, was converted by the Hovendens into a studio, and in it were produced some of the finest canvasses depicting storied events in American history and delineating the simplicity of rural life as found under the idealistic conditions obtained in this vicinity. The country folk hereabout in their original characters and with their quaint customs, homes, stock and domestic equipment, all served as models in the versatility of Mr. Hovenden's art, and when lined upon the canvas the fidelity of his compositions created a sensation in the art world and made the Hovenden pictures and his name universally and justly celebrated.

Among the principal subjects executed at the Plymouth Meeting studio were: "The Last Days of John Brown," "Breaking Home Ties," (now located in Conshohocken,) "Bringing Home the Bride," and last, and probably the most ambitious conception upon which Mr. Hovenden was at work at the time of his death, was "The Founding of a State." This picture—the making of a masterpiece—now hangs in a position of honor in the private gallery of the Hovenden home. Many other studies and paintings, as well as a great and valuable collection of articles gathered by Hovenden in Europe enrich the residnce of Mrs. Hovenden.

Three Weeks of Court.

There will be two weeks of criminal court and one of civil court in September, according to a venire handed down by Judge Miller at a brief session of court.

The venire called for the panelling of two petit juries, one traverse jury and one grand jury.

The criminal court sessions will begin September 12 and 19 and the civil court on September 26, making three continuous weeks of jury trials during the common month.

They never made a cigarette like this in my day—

The Camel idea wasn't born then. It was the exclusive expert Camel blend that revolutionized cigarette smoking.

That Camel blend of choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos hits just the right spot. It gives Camels such mellow mildness and fragrance!

The first time I smoked Camels I knew they were made for me. I knew they were the smoothest, finest cigarette in the world, at any price.

Nobody can tell me anything different.

Hobbies.

The hobbies of some people are regarded as expensive luxuries by others. Sometimes hobbies are looked upon as the boring or grubby pursuits of persons who are unable to amuse themselves in a proper and normal manner. Occasionally a hobby is respected as contributing to a man's usefulness or interest. But the word "hobby" carries with it a mildly disdainful atmosphere that does not cling round the more elegant yet essenti l synonymous word "avocation."

There is seldom any reason for people to disdain one another's hobbies, however inevitable, owing to differences in human disposition, lack of sympathy with them may be. The hobby of collecting postage stamps, despised as it was by many when first it manifested itself, needs no longer to be admitted with an air of deprecation. The hobby of mechanics is one that in these days too often demonstrates its usefulness to arouse in anyone who does not share it any feeling other than that of envy. The hobby of photography combines numerous admirable interests—those of nature, those of art, those of science; anyone who seriously pursues that hobby is sure to increase his stock of knowledge and his capacity for enjoyment. The various hobbies of the collector—butterflies, shells, Indian relics—have their value, even though that value is not often of a social character.

If we look for the reason underlying the old prejudice against hobbies, it is to be found in the fact that many of them are of an unsocial nature. The people who don't share them—and usually they are hobbies in which partnership is difficult—feel that they raise a barrier against human intercourse, or that they introduced into human intercourse a devastating element. Talking shop is bad enough, but talking hobbies is usually worse, so far as general conversation is concerned.

The people without hobbies are really to be commiserated. They may have their sports and their books, but neither sports nor books affords quite the same kind of interest that is to be derived from the pursuit of a wellsuit there is always something satisfying to the creative impulse in man.

On Friday a twilight game between Ambler A. A. and Glenside resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 5 to 0. Richie's arm was not in condition for the strain, and he was relieved by Ralph Martin, who twirled a good game and had the Glenside heavy hitters at his mercy. As each club has now won a game, the deciding contest will be played on the Glenside grounds on Sept. 3.

Large quantities of crushed stone used in rebuilding the northerly end of the Springhouse and Chestnut Hill turnpike have been secured at the W. B. Cassel quarries at Lancasterville, where the industry has been in operation day and night. The huge motor trucks have been hauling constantly through Ambler for the completion of the final section of the roadway.

It is now said on good authority that the remains of Lieutenant Benners, not be brought back from France. The young man, was in training at the Virginia Military institute when we were drawn into the struggle, was among the first to go over and to be thrown into the great struggle early. He was one of the first local boys to be killed. He was seriously wounded while gallantly leading his men and died later in a hospital.

Frank C. Weber has completed the repairs and renovations to his new home on Lindenwold avenue, which property he recently purchased from Jos. S. Angeny, Jr., Mrs. Weber, who was recently injured by a pair of runaway horses ,has recovered and last week went to Mount Joy, Pa., to arrange for the removal of their household goods to Ambler .Mr. Weber, who has been abroad on business, is expected home early in September and they will at once take up their residence in their new home.

St. Joseph's ball team, of Ambler, will travel to North Wales on Sunday to play the Strol Catholic club, of that town. St. Joseph's have recently defeated the Strols and the Strols are now out for a revenge. They have a stronger team and are capable of keeping the Ambler team down. At the last game of the Strol and Argyles at North Wales the Strols had about 50 rooters. This is what St. Joseph needs, so everybody go and root for the Ambler team. It is promised that the game will be a comparison with the Lansdale—Doylestown game. Rivalry between the two teams will cause tight playing and a fast game. Gambone and McCall are the batteries for the Strols, while Mineo and Novak are the probable batteries for St. Joseph's.

The concreting of the Springhouse and Chestnut Hill turnpike is drawing to a close as the two forces working towards Lindenwold avenue and Springhouse will probably reach those places this week, and will then have several pieces or small sections to complete. Drains were placed under the roadway between the two old Fleck places, south of Springhouse, and also under the highway from Robert C. Hamilton's to Mrs. James Williams' properties, and these sections have been left open to afford as much time as possible for setling. Then, too, just north of Mount Pleasant avenue, the trolley tracks across the road, and this section has been left open in order to give the trolley company an opportunity to make renewals and repairs to to its tracks. With these exceptions the roadway should be open for travel the latter part of next month. It is hoped these three sections will not be the means of keeping closed this busy portion of the highway for a long period.

Repairs have been made to Cheltenham road, made necessary by the recent heavy rains.

Sunday school every Sunday morning at Zion Lutheran church at 9.30. The church service at 10.45 a. m will be in charge of Mr. Samuel Yeakle next Sunday on account of the absence of the pastor. Last Sunday Percy Rex, Jr., a student at Muhlenberg college, occupied the pulpit.

There is still considerable activity in building and grading on the E. T. Stotesbury beautiful property.

Miss Martha Moock entertained at cards in honor of her week-end guests, Miss Clara Fiel and Miss Margaret MacCrory.

Recently an interesting meeting of the Democratic voters of the township was held in the interest of the party. The following candidates have been chosen by the party: Treasurer, Daniel I. Nash; auditor, John T. Sheenan; school director, Hary E. Ackerman; assessor, David Lesseig; judge of election, Henry Kimbel; inspector of election, Walter Rohrbach. Much interest is being centered in the school director fight. This is the first time in the history of the township, so far as can be learned that a woman has come out for the office. Mrs. Ackerman's friends claim that she is well qualified for the office by reason of have taught schoo. previously for a number of years and by reason of her business experience. Mrs. Ackerman's name will appear upon both the Republican and Democratic ballots.

There is considerable rejoicing among the law -abiding residents of Springfield township, especially among those living in the vicinity of Erdenheim and Flourtown, on account of cleaning up by state police under Corporal Shaver, one of the largest gambling layouts that has ever come into the township. The raid at the Wheel Pump hotel was well planned by Corporal Shaver and his men, but unfortunately the number of patrons in the place was underestimated, as it is stated that more than 150 men made their escape. However, more than 80 were captured and are now held, together with the alleged proprietors, for court. There is now much spectulation going on as to what action the commissioners of the township will take in the matter and whether an investigation will be made or not. This should be a warning to local gamblers, who have been defying the law. The local state police at Ambler desire it to be known that they will leave nothing undone to rid the community of the gamblers, even if a jail sentence is necessary. It is to be hoped that our young men will take this warning and in the future engage in some other form of pastime that will not be likely to land them in jail.

At a special meeting of the Springfield Township commissioners, held at the township building Monday evening a resolution was passed suspending the chief of police from duties pending investigation of his conduct with regard to gambling at the Wheel Pump hotel.

Ewing, of the Philadelphia and eRading railway Company to arrange for a special train to be run to the demonstration front various points.

Hearing in Penrose Shooting.

The killing of Ralph Penrose by his brother Norman in their home at Elkins Park on August 7 was described in detail by Miss Elizabeth Conard at Coroner William Neville's inquest at Ogontz on Thursday.

Miss Conard, who was reported to have been engaged to the slain man was the chief witness. After telling of the quarrel over the telephone bill, which led up to the shooting, Miss Conard proceeded slowly and deliberately to give a graphic account of how the fatal shot was fired while her back was turned a minute of the quick collapse of Ralph and then of the anguished cries of Norman as he pled for forgiveness over the dying body of his older brother.

But in her testimony a faint ray of hope was thrown out to the accused man when she declared on her oath that Ralph had struck the first blow and that Norman had shot in self-defense.

That her sympathies are with the accused brother was indicated when she dropped a white rose into the lap of the prisoner as she passed him on her way to the witness stand. The effect of the rose on the younger brother was electrical. He pressed it close to him throughout the hearing, and when he was finally committed to prison without bail he carried the flower to the cell with him.

Indications were plentiful that he will plead self-defense and Miss Connard twice testified that she did not see the fatal shot fired, but had witnessed a struggle between the brothers in which the elder beat up the prisoner. She said she could not say whether the shot which killed Ralph was fired during a struggle, or whether Ralph himself might not have pulled the trigger during such a struggle.

Considerable excitement prevailed last Thursday night shortly after 11 o'clock when Miss Martha Kapulsky, of Water street, while on her way home was attacked by an unknown colored man just a short distance east of the baseball grounds. Miss Kapulsky, who is a night operator at the local Keystone Telephone exchange, was on her way home and had reached a point opposite Knight's corn field, when she discerned hurried footsteps behind her and before she was aware of what was taking place a man tried to place a bag over her head and at the same time drag her into the field. However, he tripped over some object and Miss Kapulsky, who is quite a strong girl, threw her assailant and called for help several times. Neighbors responded and the man took to his heels and made good his escape despite the efforts of the local and state police. TOWN TOPICS.

J. Harry Thomas and family have returned home after a pleasant stay in Ocean City.

Aug. Scholz and son have formed a partnership in the house painting business.

Mrs. Thomas Redington, of Ridge avenue, left Thursday to spend some time with her son Thomas, in Colorado.

Mrs. William Leach is erecting a house on the lot in the First ward which she recently purchased. Kenderdine and Son have the carpenter work in charge.

Charles D. Jones and family have returned to their home in Ambler Highlands after having enjoyed two weeks at Ocean City.

A reliable, dependable, easy running, easy riding, economical in gasoline, oil and assuring long life to tires—such is the car you are looking for. I beg to call your attention to the Buick. Examine it critically, ask a Buick owner and let me demonstrate its many commendable features. —Rudolph Speicholtzer, agent. adv

The following petitions from Ambler have been filed in Norristown by candidates whose names will be consided at the coming Republican primary: School director—Rep., Frank Weber, First Ward, Council—Rep., G. M. Deck, merchant; Harvey B. Allen, manager; Wm. J. Brown, clerk, Justice of Peace—Rep., Wm. Urban, reporter. First Ward, Judge of Election—Rep., J. R. Lesher, newsdealer. Inspector, First ward, Rep. Irwin W. Sleath, Tax Collector, Rep., Edw. C. Scott.

In Upper Dublin township the terms of William Worman and Ralph E. Frey expire for the township school board, and it is believed these gentlemen are willing to again stand as candidates if the electors desire it. Mr. Worman has been the very efficient secretary for some years, and Mr. Frey kindly consented to accept the appointment when Mr. Aichele's removal from the district necessitated his resignation. Both members have given much of their time and talents for the interest of the school district, and it is generally recognized, we believe, that they should be nominated and elected. The condition of Upper Dublin school district with its bonded debt of over $100,000 largely contracted in order to give the children the benefit of modern facilities, the large amount yet due from the state treasury and its other financial, physical and educational problems, as appear, at this time may best be solved by returning to the board of directors those individuals who are experienced in these matters, who are familiar with the routine and necessary data and who have proven in the past their recognized ability to fill the positions they have so creditably held for a number of years.

With the present baseball season nearing an end, Ambler has gained much in experience if not in standing in the baseball league. What of the future? It seems that now is the time to consider how to secure the proper start for next season and it is recognized by this time that much depends on the start at the opening of the season. It appears to the writer that probably the best way to assure a successful 1922 season is to prepare in advance—well in advance—the earlier, the better. Let us suggest that soon after the present sesaon is ended a harmony meeting be called, not to consider the season just closed, but to take steps for next spring. Consider well the plans, elect a strong, well balanced and recognized list of officers. Let the organization be efficient and actuated only by the one thought of giving Ambler the very best team conducted on an economic basis of actual delivery of baseball efficiency for the money expended. Funds for the new season can be collected from time to time during the winter and early spring season, and the personnel of the team can also be considered early and the selection made well in advance, having also in view such other talent for the several positions as may be considered desirable to try out. Give local men, if they are promising, a good opportunity, and above all let the boys have the benefit of a good coach especially as to batting and the position necessary to assume. The finer inside team work of battery and infield can be worked up after the team is decided upon. Weather condition permitting, there must be early games played, so as to acquaint the men with each other and in order to allow them to show their talents to the management. There should also be plenty of batting practice, bunting especially, and the placing of the batted ball, also the position of the batter in order to secure a quick get-away after the ball is struck. There are many other details to be worked up, and these can easily be solved by a capable management and a willing, heady and pliable set of players, but the most important part of the battle is an early start in the right direction. A good ball team is an asset to any town. It advertises the locality. It draws support and attendance and brings outside people into the town. When it goes away it is well advertised, and carries with it the name and attributes of the town it represents. It crystallizes town pride and boosts town spirit, so let's start early for that glorious baseball season of 1922.

Lansdale-Souderton Decided for Former.

Deciding there are no grounds for a protest in the Lansdale-Souderton game, which Lansdale won on May 30, with a 7 to 1 score, the protest board of the Montgomery County League has awarded the game to Lansdale. This results in no difference in the present league standing.

"Dear Sporting Editor:

"The protested game of May 30th, which was won by Lansdale 7 to 1 and protested by Souderton, has been decided in favor of Lansdale and the game stands as played. The protest was due to the changing of the umpire's decision after consulting with the base umpire. The Protest Board has decided that there are no grounds for a protest. "Very truly yours,

"HAROLD C. PIKE,
"President."

He departed for Camp Meade in July, 1918, and was killed in action in September, 1918. He was one of the most popular young men of Wyncote, and for several years held a very responsible position with the Midvale Steel Company.

Farmers on a Picnic.

More than 4000 farmers and their families attended the second annual Montgomery county farmers' picnic in Memorial Park, Schwenksville, on Aug. 10. Five hundred automobiles were parked in the grove during the afternoon. The picnic was arranged by the Montgomery County Farm Bureau and County Agriculturist A. K. Rothenberger. Virtually every rural section of the county was represented, as were also portions of Berks and Bucks counties.

The afternoon addresses were made by Judge John Faber Miller, of near Norristown, associate judge of the Montgomery county courts, and E. K. Hibshman, of State college.

New Tax System Brings Complaint.

The change in the law, pertaining to Montgomery county, whereby the county tresurer no longer makes a tour of the boroughs in the county for the purpose of receiving the county and state taxes, is causing complaint from the taxtaxables in boroughs distant from Norristown, while at the same time it is giving the county treasurer considerable trouble.

The law, as it now prevails, enables the taxables in the townships to pay their county and state tax to the tax collector of their respective districts to whom the duplicates are issued and where the collector's neighbors can secure the information they desire, to permit them to pay the taxes. This is as it should be.

Cured of Stomach Trouble and Constipation.

Rachel Cribley of eBaver Dam, Ohio was sick for two years with stomach and constipation, taking one medicine after another with only temporary relief. "My neighbor spoke so enthusiastically of Chamberlain's Tablets" he says "that I procured a bottle of them at our drug store to try. A few days treatment convinced me that they were just what I needed. I continued their use for several weeks and they cured me. aug

Reese & Linderman Advertise Norristown.

Of the many industrial concerns in Norristown and vicinity, the firm of Messrs. Reese & Linderman, of Airy street, east of Swede street, has without doubt, contributed more in proportion to its size than any other concern in this locality to the extent of bringing before the various peoples of the United States and Canada, the fact that Norristown and the surrounding country is one of the finest parts of this continent in which to live.

This firm, which is the largest farm agency in Montgomery county, has sent and is sending circulars, booklets and other kinds of literature to all parts of the United States and Canada, advertising the fact that today Norristown is one of the leading boroughs in the country. By sending out these letters this firm has played a very important part in bringing to Norristown, people from all parts of this country and Canada.

This firm reports that there is a very bright outlook for business this fall. The reason for this is attributed to the fact that today people realize that the farmer is about the only one who can really be considered independent, and because of the general decline in industries, there are larger numbers of people who are turning to the farms for their future home.

Has Never Seen Their Equal.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets for stomach trouble, billiousness and constipation off and on for the past ten years. I have never seen their equal yet. They strengthened my digestion, relieved me of headaches and had a mild pleasant action on my bowels. I take pleasure in recommending them" writes H. D. F. Parmenter, Cridersville, Ohio. aug

Signs to Hit Poor Roads.

The New Britain Community association has decided to advertise the poor condition of the highways between Doylestown and Lansdale. Along the State road to the county seat of Bucks, at Doylestown, the association will erect a number of big signs which will call attention to the condition of the road.

The New Britain association has repeatedly urged the state to repair this stretch of highway. Last winter it was stated that the road was in better repair a century ago than at present. The Colonial army used the road in passing through the section.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is unquestionably one of the most successful medicines in use for bowel complaints. A few doses of it will cure an ordinary attack of diarrhoea. It has been used in nine epidemics of dysentery with perfect success. It can always be depended upon to give prompt relief in cases of colic and cholera morbus. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Every family should keep this remedy at hand. aug

Want Damages in Auto Accident.

The American Ice company has entered suit against E. C. Hammel, of Conshohocken for damages in the sum of $1500. It alleges that on December 27, 1920 while one of its trucks laden with ice was being driven along a slippery road on Church lane, Germantown, a car driven by the defendant came out of Stenton avenue, at such a rate of speed that without warning in order to avoid a colision John A. Bein, who was driving the plaintiff's truck was compelled to run into a pole and a curb badly damaging the truck, hence the suit for the $1500 damages.

The Sabbath school of Trinity Lutheran church held its annual outing Saturday in Bodenstein's Grove.

The nine-inch mill at Hoopeston was in operation part of last week, and this week it is stated that the 12-inch mill will work several days.

Last Friday evening a meeting was held in the fire house for the purpose of organizing a building and loan association. Quite large number of the representative men of the community were present took a keen interest in the proceedings. A letter was sent out recently signed by George H. Farrington, Charles C. Orangers and Henry A. Furlong, organization committee. The letter set forth the object of the meeting stating that it was called for the purpose of formally organizing the Fort Washington Building and Loan association. The response was most gratifying to the committee, and when the meeting was called to order Friday evening there was a good attendance of the men of the community interested in forming the new association. The election of directors resulted as follows: J. N. Arbuckle, Edward Parmiter, Frank E. Taylor, Charles W. Mulvany, Charles D. Jones, R. A. Rolston, Harvey Sabold, John L. Boyd, Harry Nash, Joseph W. Mills, M. Edward Morton, Warren J. Chandler, Charles C. Orangers, Harry A. Furlong, Joseph H. Woodhead, directors: President, Charles C. Orangers; vice president, Henry A. Furlong; treasurer, George R. Farrington; secretary, Jospeh H. Woodhead; solicitor, H. Wilson Stahlnecker. Then ew association received a most The new association received a most prosperous beginning, as more than 500 shares were subscribed, and the most encouraging feature of the subscriptions is the fact that there were only about three for 25 shares, while the bulk were for from 5 to 10 shares showing that the association is starting on a conservative bases. This is the second building and loan association to be organized within the memory of some of our older residents, who have resided, here for many years. It is said that all most a half of a century, ago it was that Fort Washington had a building and loan association which met in the what was then known as the Fort Washington hall, located in the rear of the local hotel, and its officers, at the time were: Joseph Rex, Harry Unger, William Shaffer, Abram Carn and Fitzwater White. These men were the prominent men of Fort Washington in their day and took an active part in all community affairs of interest. They have long since passed to the great beyond, but in the organization of the new building and loan association it has brought back to the memory of some here the work of these men, who were always active for a bigger and better Fort Washington. The men now back of the present organization do well to take up this work again, even though it has been almost 50 years since the other association has passed out of exhistence. A building and loan association will be the means of building up this community with homes and it will also assist our people in buying their own homes and besides this it will mean that our residents will be taught and encouraged in the saving habit. Any of the above directors will be glad to give information to anyone interested and will be glad to tell of the aims and purpose and why Fort Washington should have building and loan association.

The current report is that Fort Washington is to have another industry, which will manufacture paper ice cream plates and paper containers, etc., a branch, it is said, of an already established business in Philadelphia, so that no local capital is sought. It will be located at the old gas company plant. Just when it will begin operations is not announced.

On Saturday night sneak thieves entered the homes of Charles D. Jones, Ambler Highlands, and Romine Wallace, this place. At the former home they had clothes spread out preparatory to conveying in them the silver ware, but apparently they were frightened away in the midst of their work. They had previously regaled themselves with some eatables. On Sunday night thieves entered Fort Side inn, but secured little booty, and the same night visited the home of Harvey Sabold, north of this place, where they secured clothing.

A vote of thanks is due our townsman, George R. Wallace, for his successful efforts in clearing up the growth of bushes and briars along the Morris road and the Wissahickon creek. Senator Vare cleaned up some of his property, but Mr. Wallace has established a park-like appearance to a section that for years resembled a wilderness.
